What is a Conditional Use Permit?

A conditional use permit (CUP) is a permit to allow a use on property that requires additional review to ensure it is appropriate at the site proposed.

When is a CUP necessary?

A conditional use permit is needed when a use is proposed in a zoning district that requires a careful review of its location, design, or configuration to minimize any negative impact on surrounding properties.

What is the process?

Applicants must submit an application for a CUP to the Planning Department. Applications are then considered at a public hearing before the City Planning Commission (CPC), which makes a recommendation for consideration by the City Council.

How long does the process take?

The typical CUP request takes 2-3 months to complete the process from beginning to end. This may vary, however, as some items may require additional time to process or review prior to CPC consideration. Contact the Planning Department to determine whether any additional time will be required.

How much does an application cost?

The application fee is $1080.00.
